

Make your friends turn red with envy when you join a growing energy company that's different to the rest. That's right - Red came into the market in 2004 to make things different: we're working hard to be fair and decent to our customers, we only offer renewable electricity and we're 100% Aussie owned and operated. Better still we don't outsource any of our teams - so that's over 300 people based right here in Melbourne.

Flick the switch on your career today and join a team that makes us different to the rest - check out our new roles below:
